(The Court and all parties present remotely; case called)

MS. COLSON: Good afternoon, your Honor. For the United States, Assistant U.S. Attorney Marguerite Colson. And with your Honor's permission, joining me in my office is one of our interns, Nathaniel Chalk.

THE COURT: That's fine. Good afternoon. Good afternoon, Mr. Chalk.

MR. CECUTTI: Good afternoon, your Honor. Neil Kelly, Federal Defenders of New York. With me is Jennifer Brown on the Zoom, and Mr. Dennis is also joining by Zoom as well.

THE COURT: OK. Good afternoon, Mr. Kelly.

And good afternoon, Mr. Dennis.

And I'm sorry, who is with you Mr. Kelly?

MR. KELLY: Ms. Brown is also on the Z

THE COURT: Good afternoon, Ms. Brown.

MR. CECUTTI: Good afternoon, your Honor. This is Anthony Cecutti. I'm CJA counsel, and I'm on duty today.

THE COURT: OK. Thank you.

All right. So we are here in the case of United States v. Willie Dennis in response to Mr. Dennis's request to proceed pro se and waive his right to counsel.

First, as you can all tell, we're proceeding here by videoconference, and I want to make sure, Mr. Dennis, that you can see me and you can hear me.

M6SHDenC

1                   THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor, I can see you, and I
2 can hear you well. Thank you.

3                   THE COURT: All right. So if at any point you can't 4 see or hear me, would you please just let me know, and we'll 5 remedy that as quickly as we can.

6                   THE DEFENDANT: OK. Your Honor, one question I have.

7                   THE COURT: Yes.

8                   THE DEFENDANT: There's a gentleman who introduced 9 himself earlier; said he was with CJA, I believe it was.

10                  THE COURT: Yes.

11                  THE DEFENDANT: Can -- he's never been part of the 12 process before, so --

13                  THE COURT: Sure. I'm happy to explain that. I'll 14 explain it a little more down the line, but let me just clarify
15 that.

16                  I've asked Mr. Cecutti to be present because he's on 17 the CJA panel, which is a panel of criminal defense lawyers who 18 are vetted by the court and who are available to be appointed
19 not only as counsel, but also as what's called standby counsel.
20 And sometimes pro se litigants elect to have standby counsel.
21 I can explain more what the role of standby counsel is if 22 you're interested in that, but we'll get to that in a minute.
23 That's why Mr. Cecutti is here.

24                  THE DEFENDANT: Thank you, your Honor.

25                  THE COURT: Sure. So as you all know, but I'll say

M6SHDenC

1 this really for Mr. Dennis's benefit, what we're doing right
2 now is just establishing that it's OK to proceed by video.

3 Normally, we are required to proceed in person, and you have 4 the right, Mr. Dennis, to have this proceeding be in person.
5 And in order for us not to proceed in person, there are certain
6 things that I need to establish on the record, so that's what 7 I'm doing right now.

8 So as I said, you have the right to be physically
9 present for this and for any other proceeding, but I understand
10 from Mr. Kelly that you had requested that we proceed remotely,
11 in part because you're in Florida and partly because of a
12 family member has health issues, is that right?

13 THE DEFENDANT: That's correct, your Honor. Thank 14 you.

15 THE COURT: All right. So based on that, I find that 16 the proceeding cannot be further delayed without serious harm
17 to the interest of justice for the reasons that I just said,
18 and also because the trial was scheduled to begin in three 19 months with the first pretrial submissions due in early August.
20 And obviously, we need to resolve the representation issues, or 21 not, of Mr. Dennis. So the sooner the better, and that's why
22 we're here.

23 So let's move on to our next step. We're here in 24 response to Mr. Kelly's June 3 letter stating that Mr. Dennis
25 no longer seeks representation, specifically by the Federal

M6SHDenC

1 Defenders, and that he wishes to proceed pro se and waive his 2 right to counsel.

3 Is that right, Mr. Dennis?

4 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor, that's right. I
5 don't think it goes into all the details of why I'm -- I think
6 one of the biggest issues of why I'm looking to represent 7 myself is because the discovery process has not gone at the 8 pace in which I think it would ordinarily in cases like this,
9 and I think that, as a result of that, I've been -- I've 10 lost -- it's been to my material disadvantage that I haven't 11 been able to receive information and material at this -- being 12 so long into the case.

13 THE COURT: I understand. So I just wanted to 14 establish that I understood and that I understand what your 15 desire is. So having established that, what you're trying to 16 do is represent yourself. I --

17 THE DEFENDANT: Your Honor, can I ask you one 18 question?

19 THE COURT: Yes.

20 THE DEFENDANT: I submitted a list of reasons why I
21 wanted to change counsel. It was very detailed. And I didn't 22 have your -- access to you or your staff, and pro se, I had to 23 wait. But did you receive that? I asked --

24 THE COURT: I did receive it. And actually, I've 25 received a number of materials from you, either that came to my

M6SHDenC

1 chambers by regular mail or that were submitted to the 2 government and then forwarded to me.

3           But what I really want to do is focus -- I have a plan
4 and a way that we need to proceed in order for me to comply
5 with the requirements, and so in an instance where someone
6 wants to represent themselves -- I mean, you have a
7 constitutional right to do that. You don't -- in some sense
8 you don't have to justify it to me, but the reason we're here
9 is I can't let that happen unless I know that your decision is 10 knowing and voluntary and that you understand the risks of 11 proceeding on your own and the consequences of proceeding on 12 your own and also that it's completely voluntary; that you
13 haven't been pressured and coerced in some way to proceed this 14 way. I'm just required as a matter of law to do that, and 15 that's the purpose of the proceeding today.

16           Is that clear?

17           THE DEFENDANT: Yeah, I just wanted to make sure
18 that -- I think that in the writings that I sent it gives very 19 logical reasons, and it clearly shows why there was no pressure
20 involved, why after being a member of the bar for 30 years,
21 this is a well thought out plan is for me to represent myself.
22 It didn't -- you know. So I thought that those letters
23 articulated and have been articulating different issues that 24 have been arising that have been detrimental to me and my case.

25           THE COURT: I understand what you're saying, but,

M6SHDenC

1 frankly, just as a legal matter, even if your reasons were
2 totally irrational, you have a constitutional right to counsel,
3 but you also have a right to reject that. So while I
4 understand that you've submitted reasons, it's really not my 5 place to evaluate them because you have a right to proceed in 6 the way you think is best. But part of what I want to do today
7 is just make sure you understand the full ramifications of 8 doing that.

9 So before we do all of that, I have to establish your 10 competence. Frankly, you seem perfectly competent to me, but 11 there are questions that traditionally judges ask to do that.
12 So that's what I'm going to do now.

13 First, before I do that, I'd like to remind you of two 14 things before you speak. First, you've heard this before. You
15 have the right to remain silent, and if you choose to speak,
16 any statements you make could be used against you. That's the 17 first thing.

18 And the second, as an attorney, I'm sure you're 19 familiar with the attorney-client privilege. And that 20 privilege protects from disclosure to me or to third parties,
21 like the government, communications between you and Federal 22 Defenders, specifically Mr. Kelly, but people who have been
23 acting as your lawyers. And that privilege covers confidential
24 statements between you and Federal Defenders, either made by 25 you or made by them, in connection with providing you with

M6SHDenC

1 legal advice. If you were to say something that divulged those 2 communications, then you very well could be waiving the 3 attorney-client privilege, and the consequence could be that
4 you could be waiving it as to other communications or things
5 you've said that you would rather keep confidential.

6 So what I'm going to suggest is that you not divulge,
7 to the extent that you haven't already, any further
8 communications between yourself and Federal Defenders, just to 9 protect the attorney-client privilege and the confidentiality
10 accorded to your prior communications.

11 Understood?

12 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

13 THE COURT: So the next thing that traditionally 14 happens, and I'm going to do it here, is that I'm going to ask
15 Mr. Street, who is my courtroom deputy, to place you under oath
16 so that I can ask you some questions to confirm that you are 17 competent to proceed today.

18 So, Mr. Street, will you do that.

19 THE DEPUTY CLERK: Yes, your Honor.

20 (Defendant sworn)

21 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I do, Mr. Street.

22 THE COURT: So you are under oath now, which means
23 that if you answer any of my questions falsely, your statements 24 could be used against you in a separate action for perjury or 25 making false statements.

M6SHDenC

1                   So my first question is, please tell me your full 2 name.

3                   THE DEFENDANT: Willie Eugene Dennis.

4                   THE COURT: How old are you?

5                   THE DEFENDANT: I'm 60 years of age.

6                   THE COURT: Where were you born?

7                   THE DEFENDANT: Queens, New York.

8                   THE COURT: All right. How far did you go in school?

9                   THE DEFENDANT: Law school. Completed law school.

10                  THE COURT: Where did you get your law degree?

11                  THE DEFENDANT: Columbia University Law School.

12                  THE COURT: When was that?

13                  THE DEFENDANT: 1988.

14                  THE COURT: All right. Are you currently licensed to 15 practice law?

16                  THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I am.

17                  THE COURT: Could you briefly summarize your 18 employment experience as a lawyer.

19                  THE DEFENDANT: Yeah. When I -- when I graduated from 20 law school, I began my career at firm Orrick
21 Harrington & Sutcliffe where I was there for approximately 22 three years, and then I joined the firm of Mudge Rose Guthrie
23 Alexander Ferdinand, and I practiced there until that firm
24 actually closed, which was roughly 1995, 1996. I then joined 25 the firm of Camhy Karlinsky & Stein and was there until the

M6SHDenC

1 firm split up, and then I joined as a partner at Akin Gump.
2 Following years at Akin Gump, I was at Thelen Reid, which is
3 another firm that's no longer. I had a real good track record
4 here of picking winners. And then I went to K&L Gates.

5 THE COURT: OK. What was your area of practice?

6 THE DEFENDANT: I was a corporate attorney advising
7 large and small multinational companies on debt deals, equity
8 deals, as well as being a general adviser to them on their 9 litigation matters, their labor and employment matters.

10 THE COURT: OK. So you were a transactional lawyer?

11 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Are you currently or have you recently
13 been under the care of a physician, a psychiatrist, or a 14 psychologist?

15 THE DEFENDANT: Well, I've actually -- because this 16 has been an ongoing process, I've been seeing for a number of 17 years now, I'm currently, you know, with a therapist.

18 THE COURT: And is there anything about your, for lack 19 of a better word, mental condition that impedes your ability to 20 understand what we're doing today?

21 THE DEFENDANT: My mother might say so. But, I mean,
22 I'm down here taking care of my parents, but I don't -- I don't 23 think that there's anything that -- there's nothing that I'm 24 aware of or anyone else.

25 THE COURT: So you understand what we're doing here?

M6SHDenC

1                   THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

2                   THE COURT: OK. And you're fully capable of making
3 decisions, is that right?

4                   THE DEFENDANT: That's correct, your Honor.

5                   THE COURT: And within the past 24 hours, have you
6 used or taken any alcohol, drugs, or medication that might 7 interfere with your ability to participate in our proceedings?

8                   THE DEFENDANT: No, I have not, your Honor.

9                   THE COURT: All right. Is your mind totally clear
10 today?

11                  THE DEFENDANT: Yes, it is, your Honor.

12                  THE COURT: OK. So based on your answers to my 13 questions and your demeanor, I am comfortable that you are 14 fully competent to proceed today in these proceedings.

15                  So now what I'd like to do now is, because you say
16 you'd like to represent yourself, I need to be sure that you
17 understand your rights and the rights you'd be giving up by 18 representing yourself, and I also want to be sure you
19 understand the demands and risks of representing yourself. I
20 understand you're an attorney. If there's anything about what 21 I'm saying that you already know, please bear with me. It's 22 something that I have to assure myself of. And by all means,
23 if there's anything you don't understand that I'm saying,
24 please feel free to ask me.

25                  So the first thing is that you have a right under the

M6SHDenC

1 Constitution to have an attorney represent you at trial, and if 2 you can't afford an attorney, one would be appointed to 3 represent you.

4 Do you understand that?

5 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I do, your Honor.

6 THE COURT: All right. You also understand that,
7 conversely, you have the right to represent yourself in this
8 criminal case, including at trial?

9 THE DEFENDANT: Yes. Yes, your Honor.

10 THE COURT: OK. So would you mind telling me, only
11 because I think it's not entirely clear, at least to me, I
12 understand that you don't want to be represented by Federal 13 Defenders and by Mr. Kelly and that you have had issues with 14 the representation. But in cases where that happens -- and I
15 don't mean with Federal Defenders. I mean from time to time
16 the relationship between a client and an appointed attorney
17 doesn't work out, and then typically the client says I would 18 like a different lawyer, and a different lawyer is appointed to 19 represent the client. And you have not chosen to go that 20 route, and I just wanted to explore why that is.

21 THE DEFENDANT: I think, your Honor, in part it's 22 because of my personal familiarity with the case and the facts
23 that are before us. I mean, I've actually been living this for 24 about three, four years now. And during the period in which I
25 was -- I became aware of the most recent complaint -- this is

M6SHDenC

1 not the first complaint by my firm against me, the most recent
2 complaint in November of 2021, because there was actually a --
3 actually, the October complaint, prior to that there was a
4 complaint that was made against me with the District Attorney's
5 Office in May of 2020, and that case was dismissed based on 6 similar facts and circumstances. So as a result of that, I got 7 a lot of -- I became very aware of the charges that were made
8 and the arguments that needed to be made to defeat them in that 9 case alone.

10 I didn't find out that this was going on, as I pointed 11 out, until November of 2021, that this had actually been 12 brought to the federal courts. And so it caught me by 13 surprise, and I wasn't sure if this was new charges or were 14 they similar to the charges that were made before the District
15 Attorney's Office in the city of New York under Cyrus Vance,
16 when he was District Attorney. And during the months since
17 November through May of this year, I realized that these --
18 after looking at them and getting the information that I did, I
19 realized they were the same charges, more or less. Same set of 20 facts. So I became very comfortable with, based on my prior 21 records and talking to my prior attorneys, that same charges,
22 you make the same arguments that you're making now -- that you
23 made then, you make now. It's be consistent. That's what you 24 said then; that's what you say now. And then it should -- they 25 feel it should prevail.

M6SHDenC

1                   So I do have a kitchen cabinet of prior lawyers who
2 have been -- who represented me before the District Attorney's
3 Office who are advising me, you know, sort of, in terms of how
4 to proceed against these recent charges. So it's not -- so
5 there's a familiarity with them.

6                   THE COURT: Well, let me ask you this: One of the 7 things that I wanted to clarify first is although the charges
8 may be similar factually, understand these are federal charges
9 with the implications that come with that. I mean, they are 10 different charges under a different statute, but they may be 11 based on the same facts. I don't know if they are. It's not 12 really that relevant right now.

13                  But what I hear you saying is that you feel that 14 you're familiar with the facts and the possible defenses, and 15 so it's because of that you want to proceed without 16 representation in this matter, is that right?

17                  THE DEFENDANT: Familiar with the charges and, I
18 should add, I believe once I get the disclosures that I'm 19 required to receive, it will then -- that's why I want to 20 proceed, yes.

21                  THE COURT: So I guess one of the questions, then,
22 still is unclear to me. Just apart from your familiarity with 23 the facts -- and we can go through this in a minute -- there's 24 a lot that needs to be done in the act of lawyering at trial
25 besides being familiar with the facts. I guess one of the

M6SHDenC

1 things that I would urge you to think about is whether it would
2 be helpful to have a lawyer represent you so that they can
3 bring those skills to bear at trial in a way that you wouldn't 4 be able to because you're not a criminal defense lawyer.

5 THE DEFENDANT: That makes certainly something --
6 yeah, one of the things I wanted to do, your Honor, I haven't 7 had -- they wouldn't -- I couldn't do before was talk to the 8 pro se office of the Southern District, because I've been told 9 by people that they're very helpful. And so my thought was,
10 given my experience with the facts and with the case and 11 working with the pro se department, which I've heard that 12 they're phenomenal, that that would be the way to start.

13 THE COURT: Well, let's explore that. I understand
14 that that is something of interest, and I have only good things
15 to say about our pro se office. But in the same way that a 16 standby lawyer wouldn't be able to stand up in court and 17 represent you at trial, the people in the pro se office
18 wouldn't represent you.

19 I think you probably understand that the real 20 challenge here has to do with courtroom and courtroom skills in 21 trying a criminal case. And it's often said as a joke, but 22 I'll repeat it, and I don't mean it entirely as a joke, but the 23 old saying about a fool for a client is sometimes the person
24 who represents himself. They say it about doctors, too. A
25 fool for a patient is the doctor who cares for himself. Now,

M6SHDenC

1 I'm not going to presume to suggest -- well, let me proceed
2 with what I have prepared to say, and we can continue to talk
3 about some of these things.

4 So I want to confirm -- I think I know the answer. I
5 don't think you've ever represented anyone in a criminal
6 proceeding, is that right?

7 THE DEFENDANT: No, I have not, your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Have you ever seen a criminal trial?

9 THE DEFENDANT: No, I've seen one, yeah.

10 THE COURT: So I think it's fair to say that you
11 would -- these would be new skills and new territory. I think
12 you understand there's a lot at stake here. I'm sure you 13 understand that you're charged with four separate accounts of 14 cyberstalking.

15 And I wanted to ask Ms. Colson, what is the maximum 16 sentence that Mr. Dennis faces? I think I know, but I want to 17 make sure we're in agreement.

18 MS. COLSON: Your Honor, each of those four counts
19 carries a maximum sentence of five years, for a total maximum 20 term of 20 years' imprisonment.

21 THE COURT: OK. So supervised release, I assume, is 22 three years to be imposed concurrently as the maximum.

23 MS. COLSON: Correct, your Honor.

24 THE COURT: And the fine?

25 MS. COLSON: 250,000 or the greater, pardon me, twice

M6SHDenC

1 any pecuniary loss to a person other than the defendant. I
2 think 250,000 would be the operative number here.

3 THE COURT: OK. Plus a special assessment of $400?

4 MS. COLSON: Correct, your Honor, 100 per charge.

5 THE COURT: So in sum, the maximum penalty,
6 Mr. Dennis, so what's at stake here, is a possible maximum of 7 20 years' imprisonment, three years' supervised release after 8 any imprisonment, a fine of $250,000 plus $400 as a special
9 assessment. That, of course, is the maximum, and that is only 10 if you were convicted. But that is the biggest downside and 11 that is what's at stake. I just want to make sure you 12 understand that.

13 Is that clear?

14 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor, it's very clear.

15 THE COURT: So I also need to tell you that if you
16 decide to represent yourself, I'm the judge, obviously, and so
17 I can't advise you on how to try your case or how to make some 18 of the decisions that you'll need to make. So what I'd like to 19 do now is just describe for you -- I can't give you a 20 comprehensive list, but I want to give you at least a pretty 21 substantial list of some of the things that you will be called 22 on to do if you decide to represent yourself. And we do have a
23 transcript being made of these proceedings.

24 THE DEFENDANT: OK.

25 THE COURT: So it will all -- you're free to take

M6SHDenC

1 notes, but it's also being take down verbatim.

2 One of the things that you'll need to do is be 3 familiar with the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure and the 4 Federal Rules of Evidence. And fairly soon, that is, in early
5 August, you'll need to decide whether you want and whether it's 6 in your interest to file pretrial motions, what's called 7 motions in limine, which relate to evidentiary issues, is there
8 evidence that you want to move to exclude under the Federal 9 Rules of Evidence, and is there evidence that you think that 10 you need to move now to get into evidence under the Federal 11 Rules of Evidence.

12 Next, you'll also need to work collaboratively with 13 the prosecutors to submit to the Court jointly proposed 14 questions that I would ask potential jurors. You'd need to 15 evaluate potential jurors when we get to trial in a process
16 called voir dire and decide which jurors that you would try to 17 seek for cause. You'd have to understand when it's legitimate
18 to try to strike a juror for cause, and you'd have to determine 19 which you should strike as part of your allotted peremptory
20 challenges.

21 After you get past jury selection, you'd need to 22 decide whether to make an opening statement. As you may know,
23 criminal defendant, there's a presumption of innocence. So
24 criminal defendant doesn't have any obligation to make a 25 statement or to make any argument. The burden's entirely on

M6SHDenC

1 the prosecution. So the first decision after jury selection
2 would be do you want to make an opening statement? Would that
3 be helpful to you? Then if you chose to do that, then you,
4 like the prosecutor, would be allowed to preview the evidence
5 in an opening statement, but you wouldn't be allowed to make 6 legal argument. And I would enforce that rule. So if you were 7 making an opening statement and you strayed into the area of 8 argument, I would tell the jury to disregard what you had said,
9 which might affect their perception of you.

10 Then during the trial itself when witnesses were on 11 the stand called by the government, it would be your 12 responsibility to make objections based on the Rules of 13 Evidence, like objections to hearsay or other inadmissible
14 types of evidence. And then once witnesses have testified,
15 you'd have the right to cross-examine each of them to test
16 their perception or their memory or their motives or their 17 bias, their truthfulness. And it takes some skill to 18 cross-examine.

19 You'd also be required then to work collaboratively
20 with the prosecutor to propose instructions on the law that I
21 would review and then deliver to the jury. You'd have the 22 right at the end of the trial, but no obligation again because 23 of the presumption of innocence, to make a closing argument for 24 acquittal. You'd also need to make the strategic decision
25 whether to put on an affirmative case for your defense. Often

M6SHDenC

1       criminal defendants do not put on a case. Often criminal
2       defendants do not take the stand, and that's because the burden
3       is entirely the government's. But sometimes defendants make 4       the decision to put on a case, and you'd have to make that 5       strategic decision.

6           Then if you decided to go ahead and put on a defense
7       case, you'd have to decide on the strategy of what witnesses to 8       call, what documents you might want to put into evidence.

9           There's a certain technique to questioning witnesses. You have 10      to follow the Rules of Evidence. There's a technique to -- and 11      rules about moving documents into evidence, and all of that is 12      fairly technical. So that's basically getting you through the 13      trial process.

14           So I want to make sure you understand that that's kind 15      of the menu of, for lack of a better word, challenges that you
16      would be faced within a trial.

17           Do you understand or do you have any questions about 18      anything I just said?

19           THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I do have. I understand -- I
20      have a couple questions.

21           THE COURT: Sure.

22           THE DEFENDANT: The one area that really I'm concerned 23      about is you say that I have to work collaboratively with the 24      prosecutors.

25           THE COURT: Right.

M6SHDenC

1                   THE DEFENDANT: And so I guess the question -- the 2 fact is that as of now the prosecutors have not been giving me
3 the disclosure that I need in order to establish my case. I
4 mean, you know, so I'm -- unless they're giving me Brady
5 material and they're providing that to me so I can really -- if 6 there's something providing, that shows that I should be
7 acquitted, I need that sooner rather than later, and I need it
8 before we get to the jury selection, before -- I really need
9 that now because trial is so close.

10                  THE COURT: I guess one of the things that I would 11 say -- well, I know discovery -- you've raised it now twice, so
12 let's talk about it. I think it's important. It's obviously 13 something of concern to you.

14                  So what I would like from the government is a report
15 on Rule 16 discovery, on Brady disclosure, and your intentions
16 as far as 3500 material and any other disclosure. And if you
17 just pause after we talk about each one so that I can make sure 18 that Mr. Dennis understands and has what he's entitled to.

19                  THE DEFENDANT: And, your Honor, just one other thing
20 I'd like to say. I, based on my prior case, my prior attorneys
21 developed a list of questions which we have submitted and -- 22 back in May. And so having -- those are the questions -- the 23 answers to those questions, whether we don't have any 24 information or we're not going to answer it or this is why,
25 would go a long way towards me being able to evaluate the case.

M6SHDenC

1 So there's specific --

2 THE COURT: I guess one of the issues is -- and I'm 3 jumping ahead of myself a little bit -- that criminal
4 litigation is not like civil litigation. I know that you're 5 not a litigator, so you're not intimately familiar with it
6 either. But in civil litigation, both parties send each other
7 requests for documents, and then they say, I don't have 8 anything or I object or here it is, or whatever it is they say.
9 And that isn't how criminal proceedings work.

10 In criminal proceedings, the government is obligated,
11 basically, to turn over what it has as far as discovery, and 12 it's required to turn over what it has as far as exculpatory
13 material, but it has no obligation to go out and subpoena or 14 demand documents from any other parties that it doesn't have in 15 its possession. It's up to you and your attorneys to subpoena
16 that from those third parties.

17 So let's hear from Ms. Colson. I want to understand
18 what's happened so far.

19 THE DEFENDANT: OK. The only thing I'll add is that 20 the list that we sent was actually a list prepared by the 21 Federal Defenders.

22 THE COURT: OK.

23 THE DEFENDANT: So my attorney -- my attorney just 24 added questions on to that.

25 THE COURT: OK.

M6SHDenC

1                   THE DEFENDANT: My prior attorneys. OK.

2                   THE COURT: All right. Ms. Colson, go ahead.

3                   MS. COLSON: Your Honor, taking those report
4 categories in turn, Rule 16 discovery has been disclosed, save
5 for our identified set of data in the defendant's iCloud
6 account in his phone. Like the defendant's other accounts,
7 those had to go through a privilege review which, in any case,
8 takes some time, and in this case it was particularly 9 time-consuming owing to the defendant claiming a very broad
10 list of privilege. The privilege review was recently completed
11 on both of those, and it's just undertaken our responsiveness
12 review.

13                  I'll note, your Honor, that all of the materials that 14 we're talking about here are the defendant's own
15 communications. So he is intimately familiar with them,
16 arguably on a level that we are not familiar with them.

17                  As to Brady, it's an ongoing --

18                  THE COURT: Wait, wait, wait. I just want to slow
19 down a little bit so we talk about each category.

20                  As far as Rule 16 material, can you describe generally 21 what's been provided.

22                  MS. COLSON: Your Honor, I believe we've turned over 23 communications from Mr. Dennis to various individuals, and as 24 Mr. Dennis has noted, we have his phone which contains certain 25 iCloud -- excuse me, we have his iCloud account and we have the

M6SHDenC

1       contents of his phone. Those are still undergoing review.

2           THE COURT: OK. So what --

3           MS. COLSON: But we have turned over various law
4 enforcement reports, FBI 302s if they're known, and other
5 Rule 16 material outside of those limited categories that I
6 just described. Rule 16, in our view, is complete, save for 7 those two categories.

8           THE COURT: When you say "save for," so basically what
9 you've given to him, as I understand it, are communications
10 between Mr. Dennis and particular individuals, some law
11 enforcement files including FBI 302s, and the materials that 12 have yet to be provided because they had to undergo both a 13 privilege review and a relevance review are the contents of 14 his, basically, iCloud account and the contents of his phone,
15 although I would think everything on his phone is in his iCloud
16 account.

17           MS. COLSON: Your Honor, yes, and I apologize. I am
18 relatively new to the case, but there have been -- I'm looking 19 at my file as we speak. There have been one, two, three, four,
20 five -- six previous disclosures, and save for those two 21 limited categories, we do think discovery is complete. We 22 will, obviously, expeditiously review those two categories that 23 have just been sort of cleared through the privilege review and 24 then --

25           THE COURT: Do you have a time frame for producing

M6SHDenC

1 that material?

2 MS. COLSON: I don't, your Honor. I can check back
3 with the law enforcement agents currently reviewing and update
4 the Court as soon as we do have a time frame.

5 THE COURT: That would be great. If you could give me
6 a letter within a week or so just telling me what the status is 7 and your estimated date for production so that we can at least
8 have all of the Rule 16 discovery finished.

9 MS. COLSON: Understood, your Honor. And I do
10 reiterate that these are his communications. Presumably, he 11 would know what they are.

12 THE COURT: Understood. But I can't swear I know
13 everything that's in my phone. I assume Mr. Dennis is in the 14 same boat.

15 So that's Rule 16 material. And then tell me other 16 categories. Tell me about Brady. I know you understand what 17 your obligation is under Brady, and just so Mr. Dennis
18 understands, sounds like he knows, Brady v. Maryland's
19 basically exculpatory material.

20 So, Ms. Colson, tell me about Brady disclosures.

21 MS. COLSON: Your Honor, we understand that that's an 22 ongoing obligation. To the extent we have come across any 23 Brady material, it will have already been disclosed. Any Brady
24 material that we would come upon would be expeditiously
25 disclosed.

M6SHDenC

1           Then I believe the next category your Honor mentioned
2 was 3500 material which would cover witness statements, and
3 those will be disclosed at a time set by the government --
4 excuse me, set by the Court in advance of trial.

5           THE COURT: OK. Typically, I require that about two 6 weeks in advance of trial, just so Mr. Dennis understands.

7           THE DEFENDANT: Your Honor, can I make one comment,
8 because this is where I am confused?

9           THE COURT: Yes. OK.

10           THE DEFENDANT: The Federal Defenders prepared a list
11 of questions that they quote/unquote said were Brady questions
12 that we needed answers to that -- May 24, that list of 13 questions. And so is the prosecutor saying she's responded to 14 those questions already? Is that what I'm hearing?

15           THE COURT: I think she's fairly new to the case, but 16 let me ask her.

17           MS. COLSON: I'll say only that we understand our 18 Brady obligations, and so to the extent that this list of 19 questions would have touched upon Brady material, we would have 20 disclosed that material.

21           THE COURT: I'll just say that I saw in the materials
22 that I reviewed from Mr. Dennis a list of questions, or what 23 looked like document demands, really, but the reason I made the 24 point I made before is if the government has materials that are 25 pertinent to your case, they are required to turn them over.

M6SHDenC

1 But if they don't have them, if, for example, they're from K&L
2 Gates, they're from Proskauer, they're from whomever, if they
3 don't have those materials, then they don't have an obligation
4 to go out and get them because you want them. It's your 5 obligation --

6 THE DEFENDANT: Right.

7 THE COURT: -- to get the materials from a third
8 party.

9 But let me just stop you there for a second. Let me
10 just ask Mr. Kelly, who I know who's been intimately involved
11 in this, and if I could just ask you, Mr. Kelly, you may know
12 more than Ms. Colson since you've been in the case and she's 13 new to the case.

14 MR. KELLY: Yes, your Honor. Two points I think I
15 wold make in response to what's been discussed so far. First,
16 it's my understanding that we, and Mr. Dennis, have the full 17 production of electronic discovery materials. That the 18 government's privilege review is more for their sake than for 19 the defense's. So unless there was another set of materials
20 that's forthcoming, when Ms. Colson before was describing 21 materials to come through a privilege review, it's my 22 understanding that we already have that.

23 THE COURT: In other words, you have all of those 24 materials. On behalf of Mr. Dennis, you have all those 25 materials. In other words, the contents of his phone and his

M6SHDenC

1 iCloud account, and it's really Ms. Colson who's waiting for 2 the privilege and relevance review so that she knows what she's 3 allowed to look at?

4 MR. KELLY: Correct, your Honor.

5 THE COURT: OK.

6 MR. KELLY: There is a small subset of attorneys' eyes
7 only documents that are the indices for the FBI's case files.
8 I've raised that with the government. To the extent Mr. Dennis 9 proceeds pro se, they've represented that they're going to take 10 some ameliorative steps to give him that information, but that 11 is the only subset of material that I'm aware of. It's three 12 indices to the FBI's case files. Other than that, my 13 understanding is Mr. Dennis has everything the government has 14 produced and has everything that's in the electronic discovery
15 review process.

16 THE COURT: OK. That's helpful. You were going to 17 say two things. What's the other one?

18 MR. KELLY: The second is I think there was some 19 confusion, perhaps justifiably, between Mr. Dennis, the 20 government, and perhaps the Court as to his discovery demands.
21 Those were not served by our office. Mr. Dennis then indicated
22 his desire to proceed pro se, and he then provided that 23 material -- excuse me, those requests to the government 24 directly.

25 I won't speak for the government as to whether they've

M6SHDenC

1 reviewed and responded to those as if they were discovery
2 requests, but just so the record is clear, we had not served
3 those. Then there was the intervening request by Mr. Dennis to 4 proceed on his own. He then served those himself on the 5 government. That is what I understand he's also provided
6 copies of to the Court.

7 THE COURT: OK. That's helpful. Thank you.

8 So, Ms. Colson, I just direct your attention to those,
9 and if you could deal with them in due course.

10 MS. COLSON: Understood, your Honor.

11 THE COURT: All right. So now tell me -- what I'd 12 like to do now, Mr. Dennis, is proceed where I was, which was 13 to ensure that you understand the challenges associated with 14 proceeding on your own.

15 THE DEFENDANT: Right. I had one other question
16 because you were mentioning how I can't discover things that's 17 not in the possession of the government. I think I said to you
18 there have been communications going on between Proskauer and 19 the Department of Justice just this past week which led to them
20 reaching out into my civil case and reaching out to the 21 arbitrator in the civil case asking him, more or less, not to 22 lift a stay.

23 So in that instance where Proskauer has talked to the 24 government and says, Willie Dennis is trying to lift his stay
25 in his civil case, and we don't think he should, the government

M6SHDenC

1 has then -- or maybe they have not -- the government has then
2 responded to Proskauer saying: We don't believe the stay
3 should be lifted. These are the reasons why, and you should 4 share this with the arbitrator. Proskauer in turn -- and I'm 5 not involved in this process at all, even though I'm 6 representing myself in the civil matter -- Proskauer in turn on 7 June 22 sends a letter to the American Arbitration Association
8 with the statement that the Department of Justice wants to talk
9 to the arbitrator before he's inclined to lift the stay, if 10 he's inclined to lift the stay.

11 So I guess my question to all of that is since I was 12 not involved in Proskauer's discussion with the Department of 13 Justice in terms of how they positioned it, what they said,
14 then the Department of Justice's decision that they wanted to 15 intervene and then using Proskauer as the agent to intervene
16 and now an official communication was sent to the American 17 Arbitration Association, can I get discovery on the 18 conversation between Proskauer and the Department of Justice on 19 that?

20 THE COURT: So what I need to do -- I can't sort of 21 rule on the fly here, especially since I haven't heard from the 22 government, but in general -- and I did see a couple of 23 letters, I think they were letters, just today that had been 24 attached to the most recent filings or submissions here, and 25 they dealt with the arbitration and the stay in the

M6SHDenC

1 arbitration. And in general, the arbitration is in the realm
2 of the arbitrator. It's the arbitrator who has jurisdiction
3 over that. I don't have jurisdiction over that. And if the 4 arbitrator wants to stay the arbitration for whatever reason
5 the arbitrator thinks is a good idea, that is between the 6 parties and the arbitrator and has nothing to do with me. And 7 I wouldn't get involved in that, just so you understand that.

8 THE DEFENDANT: OK.

9 THE COURT: OK. So I want to be sure I just -- to 10 pick up where we were, I went through a whole laundry list of 11 things that you would have to do at trial, and frankly, people
12 spend years learning those skills. You have a lot at stake
13 here. I just want to make sure that you understand that if you 14 represented yourself, that it would be your responsibility to 15 do all of those things.

16 Do you understand that?

17 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I do, your Honor.

18 THE COURT: And, again, one of the things I would ask
19 you to think about is whether you would consider -- I
20 understand that there's been a breakdown in the relationship
21 with Federal Defenders, but if you would consider having a 22 different attorney, such as Mr. Cecutti -- who I'm afraid we 23 may be detaining from other obligations. Mr. Cecutti, jump in 24 if you're supposed to be in another courtroom right now -- but 25 I would just ask you to consider having somebody who's an

M6SHDenC

1 experienced trial lawyer represent you in this trial where
2 there's a lot at stake and a lot of challenging work to be 3 done.

4 THE DEFENDANT: Yeah. I mean, I have to say, as we've 5 been going through this conversation, my biggest concern is 6 that -- is basically if I cannot get access to disclosures I
7 need, then I will have a really difficult time with this case.
8 And as I've said in my letters, I'm really concerned that the 9 Department of Justice reached into the civil case when I --
10 when there's a criminal case going on. I don't know what would 11 have motivated them to actually -- if they actually did that.
12 And if the fact is I can never find out, then that's -- that is 13 a problem, I guess, that I'm going to have to start dealing 14 with is that they can do these things, and there's no way to -- 15 they can influence processes, and there's no way to understand,
16 even though you have a right -- because I think them entering 17 into the civil and it is a criminal -- it is a criminal case
18 that they're doing it from, they should be willing to freely -- 19 and I could ask Ms. Colson while she's on the phone -- to 20 disclose her communications with Proskauer on that issue or 21 just to say that they had no communications with Proskauer. I
22 think that's a fair question.

23 THE COURT: But, Mr. Dennis, that's not what we're -- 24 that's not what we're here for. What I'm trying to do is 25 figure out if you understand what you're taking on if you

M6SHDenC

1 decide to represent yourself, and I want to make sure that once
2 you do understand that, that that is really how you want to 3 proceed rather than having another different lawyer appointed
4 to represent you. That's where I'm going. So let me pick up
5 again where I was.

6 If you represent yourself, you'll be expected to abide 7 by the Court's trial schedule. I think you know that trial is 8 scheduled to begin with jury selection on September 28, with 9 first pretrial submissions, meaning those motions I mentioned,
10 on August 12. And you would be responsible for that.

11 Do you understand that?

12 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I do, your Honor.

13 THE COURT: OK. I think you also understand that the 14 right of self-representation -- and I say this because I always 15 say it in this circumstance, not because I doubt you -- but 16 self-representation is not a license to abuse the dignity of 17 the courtroom. So you would have to comport yourself
18 professionally.

19 You understand that?

20 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

21 THE COURT: All right. Do you also understand that 22 even if you are representing yourself, I may terminate that 23 representation if I found that you deliberately engaged in some 24 serious and obstructionist misconduct?

25 THE DEFENDANT: Your Honor, I will not do that, and I

M6SHDenC

1 understand.

2 THE COURT: All right. Good. Do you also understand
3 that a lawyer may have better and easier access to legal 4 research materials and potential witnesses who could help with 5 your defense, particularly since your bail conditions restrict 6 your travel and also prohibit your contact with certain people?

7 THE DEFENDANT: Yes. Yes, your Honor, I understand.

8 THE COURT: Then do you also understand that even if 9 you had standby counsel, in other words, a lawyer like 10 Mr. Cecutti to behind the scenes advise you, that he or any 11 other standby counsel would not be entitled to speak to the 12 jury or appear in front of the jury or speak to the Court?
13 That would just be sort of a private advisory relationship.

14 Do you understand that?

15 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, I do, your Honor.

16 THE COURT: OK. Then do you also understand -- and 17 this is a very important aspect that sometimes pro se litigants
18 aren't entirely clear on -- that if you wanted to tell the jury
19 your version of the events in your own words, that the only way 20 that you could do that would be to take the witness stand and 21 testify under oath and subject yourself to cross-examination?
22 You couldn't just get up in argument at the beginning or the 23 end of the trial and tell your side of the facts.

24 Do you understand that?

25 THE DEFENDANT: I absolutely understand the truth

M6SHDenC

1 behind my story, uh-huh.

2 THE COURT: OK. But, again, what I want to make sure
3 you understand is that you can't tell that story even if you
4 represent yourself unless you take the witness stand, swear to 5 tell the truth under oath, and subject yourself to 6 cross-examination.

7 THE DEFENDANT: Uh-huh, yes.

8 THE COURT: Is that clear?

9 THE DEFENDANT: Yes. Yes, your Honor.

10 THE COURT: OK. And because this is such an important
11 point, I'm just going to elaborate a little bit.

12 So I will tell the jury, I always tell the jury, in 13 fact, that opening statements, closing arguments, questions put 14 to the witnesses are not evidence, and their verdict has to be 15 based on the evidence. So you shouldn't expect that you would 16 be able to make factual statements to the jury unless they were 17 separately established by evidence, such as your taking the 18 stand under oath.

19 Is that clear?

20 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

21 THE COURT: All right. And that if you did try to 22 make statements during the course of argument, I may well be 23 forced to instruct the jury to disregard what you said.

24 Do you understand that?

25 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

M6SHDenC

1                   THE COURT: You should also understand that if you act
2 as your own attorney, a jury could draw inferences about you as
3 a person, about what you did in the case, about what you know
4 about the case in a way they would not be able to do if there
5 were an intermediary between you and them, such as an attorney
6 representing you.

7                   Do you understand that?

8                   THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

9                   THE COURT: Do you also understand that even if you
10 chose not to testify, the rights you have as a criminal 11 defendant not to incriminate yourself could be undermined
12 because the jury may draw impressions about you based on how 13 you conduct yourself or how you conduct the defense at trial?

14                  Do you understand that?

15                  THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

16                  THE COURT: Also do you understand that if you decided 17 at some point to discuss a possible plea agreement with the 18 government, a criminal defense attorney likely would be better
19 able to do that than you in your position as a defendant?

20                  THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

21                  THE COURT: Do you also understand that if you
22 represent yourself at trial and you were convicted, you would 23 not be able to argue on appeal that the conviction resulted 24 from inadequate representation because there wouldn't have been 25 any representation?

M6SHDenC

1                   Is that understood?

2                   THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

3                   THE COURT: Do you also understand that once you've 4 waived your Sixth Amendment right to counsel, you may not
5 simply demand to have counsel reinstated at some point later?
6 I would, of course, consider any request you make for counsel,
7 but after you elect to represent yourself, you can't try to get 8 an advantage or delay the trial by first waiving counsel and 9 then asking for counsel.

10                  Is that clear?

11                  THE DEFENDANT: Yeah, almost. Let me ask a couple
12 questions along those lines.

13                  THE COURT: OK.

14                  THE DEFENDANT: I think that -- well, I want to hear
15 more about the parameters in terms of -- as I've sort of 16 indicated on this call and as I think about it, in the case
17 before the District Attorney of the city of New York, we got to 18 the point where no one would turn over any disclosure, and 19 that's why the case did not proceed forward, because the same
20 sort of disclosure that Mr. Kelly asked for and that I've asked
21 for since May was never forthcoming.

22                  But in the event that I actually do get disclosure and 23 it turns out that I review the disclosure and it's things that 24 I didn't anticipate, what is the -- what is my ability to come
25 to the Court and say -- and say I want -- I want a retained

M6SHDenC

1 counsel? And it doesn't have to be appointed counsel; it could
2 be someone I retain myself. I could do that at any time, is 3 that right?

4 THE COURT: You could. At any time if you want to 5 retain your own counsel, you can do that.

6 THE DEFENDANT: OK. OK. OK.

7 THE COURT: But my advice to you is if you're thinking
8 that you're going to do that, the sooner the better, because 9 anybody you retain, even if it's the people who represented you
10 in front of the state, they will be bound by whatever you do.
11 So the sooner the better is all I could say.

12 THE DEFENDANT: Yeah. I'm sort of weighing against 13 how soon am I going to get the answers to the questions that 14 Mr. Kelly -- I mean, it's not like I'm thinking infinitely.
15 How soon --

16 THE COURT: Wait. Remember what Mr. Kelly said.
17 Mr. Kelly said he got the questions from you, but that before 18 submitting them to the government, you interposed your 19 directive that they weren't to act on your behalf anymore and 20 that you would represent yourself. So the government got the 21 questions from you. They did not get them from Mr. Kelly.

22 THE DEFENDANT: Well, to really be more clear, and I
23 didn't -- Mr. Kelly actually sent me an email saying he had 24 sent them to the government already, and so -- and so my 25 questions were -- and this is what I put in my emails --

M6SHDenC

1 additional questions to the ones that the government should
2 have received from Mr. Kelly. And I --

3 THE COURT: So let's do this. We're not here to 4 adjudicate that, and I also really don't want to get into
5 recriminations about what may have transpired. Nor do I want
6 you to waive the attorney-client privilege.

7 But what I will do is I will ask, Ms. Colson, if you
8 could respond by a week from today, and if that ends up not
9 being enough time, then just ask for more time. But time's
10 passing here, so I'd like to keep things moving. If you could 11 respond by a week from today explaining to the Court where we 12 stand with respect to Mr. Dennis's questions. OK?

13 MS. COLSON: Understood, your Honor. I'll just 14 reiterate what Mr. Kelly helpfully stated. Apologies for being 15 new. There is nothing left, as we see it, for Mr. Dennis to 16 receive under Rule 16.

17 THE COURT: I understand. But I think it would help
18 Mr. Dennis, who I think is frustrated and also doesn't fully 19 understand the process, to know why these specific questions
20 are not answered or the materials aren't provided as part of 21 the government's Rule 16 discovery. And I understand that's 22 not normally a burden that's imposed on you. My apologies for 23 that, but I actually think that it's the more efficient way and 24 will lead to less consternation on everyone's part if we just 25 proceed if that way. OK?

M6SHDenC

1 MS. COLSON: That's probably easiest. You're right,
2 your Honor. Thank you.

3 THE COURT: OK. Thank you.

4 So, Mr. Dennis, I want to conclude this area of my
5 questioning of you. I just want to make sure that you
6 understand the challenges and risks you'd be taking on if you
7 chose to represent yourself, and if you have any questions
8 about that remaining, please ask them now.

9 THE DEFENDANT: I think, your Honor, you've been very 10 patient, thoughtful in laying out the different challenges that 11 I face, and I don't have any other questions at this point.

12 THE COURT: OK. So the next thing I want to confirm 13 is that your request to waive your right to counsel is 14 voluntary, so I'll just ask that direct question.

15 Is this a voluntary request that you're making?

16 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, it is, your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Has anyone threatened you or coerced you
18 or tried to force you to proceed to trial without a lawyer?

19 THE DEFENDANT: No, your Honor.

20 THE COURT: And has anyone promised you any benefit or 21 tried to induce you in some way to waive your right to a
22 lawyer?

23 THE DEFENDANT: No, your Honor.

24 THE COURT: And if you think you would like a little 25 longer to think about this, I can give you that time. We could

M6SHDenC

1 reconvene in a couple of days so you have a chance to
2 reconsider if you would like to, in light of all that's 3 transpired.

4 THE DEFENDANT: No, your Honor, I'd like to proceed
5 forward.

6 THE COURT: OK. And I will share with you my view. I
7 think perhaps it's been clear, but I'll share it with you now
8 anyway. And that is my view is that if you do decide to 9 represent yourself, I think that is an unwise decision. I
10 think your interests at trial would be much better served if 11 you had an experienced trial lawyer, one who doesn't directly 12 have their own future and well-being at stake in the trial.

13 Understood?

14 THE DEFENDANT: Understood, your Honor.

15 THE COURT: So given everything I've told you about 16 the penalties you face, the risks and challenges of waiving
17 your right to counsel, is it still your wish to represent 18 yourself in this case, including at trial?

19 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

20 THE COURT: And is it your wish to begin doing that 21 immediately, as opposed to at some later point?

22 THE DEFENDANT: Immediately, your Honor.

23 THE COURT: All right. So based on my discussions
24 today with Mr. Dennis, my observations of his demeanor, I find
25 that he is competent, and he has waived his Sixth Amendment

M6SHDenC

1 right to counsel, and that his waiver is knowing and voluntary.

2 So with that, Federal Defenders and Mr. Kelly are 3 relieved as counsel. And, first, I just want to talk to 4 Mr. Kelly about all the materials that you have. Have you been 5 able to provide them to Mr. Dennis, or is that still in the 6 works? What's the status of that?

7 MR. KELLY: Yes, your Honor. Mr. Dennis has external
8 hard drives of all the government's productions, and in his 9 recent request to our office, we've provided him with copies of 10 all of our communications with the government and with the 11 Proskauer firm. So as of today's date, he has everything from 12 the case file except for those, as I mentioned, three 13 attorneys' eyes only documents.

14 THE COURT: OK. Thank you. That's helpful.

15 THE DEFENDANT: And, your Honor, just to comment, I'm 16 still reviewing the files that were sent to me, so I can't 17 confirm that I have everything that has been -- that -- from 18 their offices as of yet. So I want that just to be on the 19 record.

20 THE COURT: Sure. I understand. Mr. Kelly has 21 represented that he's turned over everything, but, obviously,
22 you should review it to see if it appears that anything's
23 missing.

24 THE DEFENDANT: There are one or two things, and 25 I'm -- that I believe are missing, and I'll be able to document

M6SHDenC

1 that.

2 THE COURT: What I would ask you to do is if you think
3 there are some things that are missing, just work directly with 4 Mr. Kelly about that, and if there is some issue or problem,
5 you can come to me. But I would just urge you to try to work
6 things out with Mr. Kelly first, and I can assure you, just 7 based on prior dealing, that I am sure Mr. Kelly will act in 8 good faith and will certainly not make any misrepresentations
9 to the Court. So try that avenue first. If there's a problem,
10 then come to me.

11 THE DEFENDANT: OK, your Honor.

12 THE COURT: So now I want to turn to the issue of 13 standby counsel.

14 As I mentioned before, sometimes in cases like this a
15 defendant like yourself will request to have standby counsel
16 appointed to assist them. The role of that person -- and that 17 would be Mr. Cecutti in this case -- the role of that person
18 would be to be available for your questions or to advise you if 19 you ask for advice. Basically, it's a resource there for you.
20 That person would not speak to the jury. They would not 21 represent you. They would not speak to me on your behalf.
22 They would not write letters on your behalf. It's basically 23 just an advisory relationship, and it's Mr. Cecutti because 24 he -- the CJA lawyers from that panel have days when they're 25 assigned essentially to be on call. This is Mr. Cecutti's day,

M6SHDenC

1 and so that's why he's the person here. The people on the 2 panel are reappointed every year based on their performance in 3 the prior year and a vetting process by the Court.

4 So the question is would you like Mr. Cecutti
5 appointed to act as standby counsel for you as a resource?

6 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor, I would.

7 THE COURT: OK. So, Mr. Cecutti, consider yourself so
8 appointed, and you can speak to Mr. Dennis and figure out what 9 his needs and requests are.

10 If at any point, Mr. Dennis, you decide that you want
11 an appointed lawyer to represent you and you qualify still to 12 have an appointed lawyer, Mr. Cecutti would be available and 13 the person to do that.

14 Is that understood?

15 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right. So what I want to talk about 17 next are dates. I think you're familiar with the schedule, but 18 the trial is scheduled to begin September 28 with jury
19 selection. Any motions in limine, and that is motions to 20 exclude or permit particular evidence, are due August 12. So 21 that means you and the government both have to file any such 22 motions by August 12. Usually, just so you know, they're 23 brief. They're not long tomes of paper. And they usually 24 argue based on the Rules of Evidence that something either 25 should be admitted or excluded. I have a page limit myself of

M6SHDenC

1 five pages for each motion and each response. As I said,
2 motions are due August 12. Response is due a week later,
3 August 19.

4 Then I mentioned before that there are certain things
5 you need to collaborate with the government on in preparing.
6 There are three things:

7 First, I would like a single document submitted
8 jointly by you and the government that notes just the points of 9 difference. The first document is proposed questions for 10 prospective jurors, and that's called voir dire. Of course,
11 I'll review it and in the end decide what questions should be 12 asked. That's based on what you submit to me.

13 Second, the second collaborative document are the 14 proposed jury instructions which instruct the jury on the law
15 of the government's accusations, as well as your defenses.

16 And the third document is a proposed verdict form.
17 Those are due by September 2.

18 Finally, you'll be expected to attend in person the 19 final pretrial conference which is scheduled for September 19
20 at 11:00 a.m.

21 And those should all be in a written document, in a
22 written order, but if for some reason they're not, I'll issue a
23 written order just so it's clear.

24 Do you have ECF privileges, by the way, Mr. Dennis?

25 THE DEFENDANT: I do not at this point.

M6SHDenC

1                   THE COURT: Would you mind getting them just so that
2 we're not dealing with snail mail to get you communications
3 because we can't just email. It's too informal. We have to --
4 as the Court I have to put things on the docket, and you can 5 access them on the docket.

6                   THE DEFENDANT: OK.

7                   THE COURT: All right. So if you could do that 8 expeditiously, that would be great.

9                   So I know there are various letters that you have 10 written to the Court that have not been filed on the docket.
11 Any communications with the Court have to be filed in the 12 docket, in that way there's no question that the government has 13 seen them. By the same token, Ms. Colson understands that any 14 communications with the Court from her likewise have to go on 15 the docket, and that way you will see them. So everything is 16 completely transparent.

17                  What I'd like you to do is wait for Ms. Colson's
18 letter, which we should have by next week, and then -- I think 19 we've taken care of all the issues with Federal Defenders. If 20 there are any remaining issues that you want to raise with the 21 Court, in other words, by making a motion or an application, if 22 you would do that at that point. And what I would like to do
23 is have any motion business July 12 and any opposition by 24 July 22.

25                  OK. I think that is it. Is there any other issue

M6SHDenC

1 that anyone thinks that I need to address?

2 THE DEFENDANT: Well, one important one I just
3 realized is that this transcript you said -- when would I be
4 able, because I didn't take the notes --

5 THE COURT: Right.

6 THE DEFENDANT: How soon and when would I be able to 7 get a copy of this so I could study it in more detail?

8 THE COURT: That I can't tell you.

9 Mr. Street, can you help us? Or perhaps I could ask
10 the court reporter.

11 (Discussion off the record)

12 MR. CECUTTI: Your Honor, this is Anthony Cecutti.

13 THE COURT: Yes.

14 MR. CECUTTI: I've been listening and paying close
15 attention. I'm happy to put in a request for the transcript
16 tonight to assist Mr. Dennis getting a copy of the transcript.

17 THE COURT: That would be great. Thank you.

18 All right. Another question I have, and only because 19 it seems to be pressing, perhaps I misunderstood, but there
20 seems to be an issue with Mr. Dennis's phone.

21 Do you not have your phone, Mr. Dennis?

22 THE DEFENDANT: No, your Honor, I do not.

23 THE COURT: I think the government has the contents of 24 the phone. Can you now give the phone back to Mr. Dennis?

25 MS. COLSON: Your Honor, the phone is still being

M6SHDenC

1 reviewed. The contents of the phone are evidence, and so we 2 are not in a position to give them back yet.

3 THE COURT: I guess what I was wondering is -- I
4 assume the contents of the phone are all on some digital media,
5 and you can keep that and give him his phone back.

6 MS. COLSON: Your Honor, we view the phone itself as 7 an instrument of the crime.

8 THE COURT: OK. So what we'll do is this: If you
9 want to make an application for your phone, Mr. Dennis, I'll 10 hear your argument, I'll hear the government's argument, and 11 then I'll rule on it. OK?

12 MS. COLSON: Your Honor, before we break, I would just 13 ask now that --

14 THE DEFENDANT: Before you leave the phone issue --

15 THE COURT: Wait, wait, wait. I'm going to let 16 Ms. Colson, since she started, ask her question, then I'll call 17 on you, Mr. Dennis.

18 MS. COLSON: Your Honor, mine was on a slightly 19 different topic, so if Mr. Dennis would like to be heard on the 20 phone issue.

21 THE COURT: OK. You want to be heard on the phone
22 issue?

23 THE DEFENDANT: Yes. OK. This is -- I think
24 Mr. Kelly's still on. I think he told me they had given him
25 all the discovery off of the phone already.

M6SHDenC

1           But besides that, I've only been allowed to have one
2 email account, which is tied to that phone, my old phone. And
3 I'd just like confirmation, and I've been having -- this is 4 going to be in one of my motions. I've been having a lot of 5 issues electronically with my devices -- but I wanted
6 confirmation from the government that no one is able to or has 7 the ability to read my emails on a real-time basis from a
8 technical standpoint.

9           THE COURT: No, I understand your concern.

10           Ms. Colson.

11           MS. COLSON: Your Honor, no one's accessing or using 12 that will phone. We're purely holding it for evidentiary
13 purposes and searching it pursuant to whatever the parameters
14 have been court approved.

15           THE COURT: OK.

16           THE DEFENDANT: But, Ms. Colson, can you actually 17 physically do that? Because I've been having issues. So could 18 you -- having that phone, could you read my emails? I'm not 19 saying you did it, but could you -- would you be able to?

20           THE COURT: Well, I'm not going to preside over a 21 dialogue.

22           THE DEFENDANT: OK. I'm sorry.

23           THE COURT: No, that's OK.

24           So what I'd like you to do is make an application for 25 your phone, or perhaps you can talk to Mr. Cecutti and see if

M6SHDenC

1 there's some happy medium or alternative so that you're -- I
2 mean so you're able to function because, frankly, whether 3 you're pro se or whether you're represented, if you can't
4 communicate confidentially by email, that seems to me
5 difficult, to say the least.

6 So make an application, then I can hear arguments from 7 both sides and figure out what the right solution is. OK.

8 THE DEFENDANT: Would I be able to get Mr. Cecutti's
9 contact information before we hang up?

10 THE COURT: Mr. Cecutti, are you still there? But 11 you're on mute.

12 MR. CECUTTI: Yes, I'm here.

13 THE COURT: What's the easiest way that isn't going to 14 take everybody's time for you to be in touch with Mr. Dennis?

15 MR. CECUTTI: If I can quickly give him my cell phone 16 number.

17 THE COURT: Perfect.

18 THE DEFENDANT: All right.

19 MR. CECUTTI: Mr. Dennis, my cell phone number is 917.

20 THE DEFENDANT: OK.

21 MR. CECUTTI: 741.

22 THE DEFENDANT: OK.

23 MR. CECUTTI: 1837.

24 THE DEFENDANT: OK. Thank you.

25 MR. CECUTTI: And I'm available tonight to speak if

M6SHDenC

1 you would like.

2 THE DEFENDANT: 917-741-1837.

3 MR. CECUTTI: Correct.

4 THE DEFENDANT: Thank you, sir.

5 THE COURT: Now, Ms. Colson, you had another subject
6 you wanted to raise?

7 MS. COLSON: We would just ask now that we have the 8 ECF issue squared away, and Mr. Dennis knows how to reach both 9 AUSAs Sarah Kushner and me, that Mr. Dennis communicate only to 10 us when he's looking to communicate with the government rather 11 than the U.S. Attorney himself or people on that level. We 12 think that we can communicate anything that he wishes to be 13 passed on, but it suffices to --

14 THE COURT: The other thing is it's highly inefficient
15 because it's your job, in the first instance, to deal with 16 whatever comes up in this case. Mr. Dennis, could I ask you to 17 do that.

18 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor.

19 THE COURT: OK. Great. All right. If there's 20 nothing else, I'm going to adjourn this proceeding.

21 Mr. Dennis, if you could contact the pro se office
22 about how to get access to ECF.

23 THE DEFENDANT: OK.

24 THE COURT: And also the email address you can use to 25 have your motions filed on ECF.

M6SHDenC

1                   THE DEFENDANT:  OK.  I should just call them in the 2 morning?  I'll call them in the morning.

3                   THE COURT:  I'm not sure you -- that's a good
4 question.  Mr. Street -- so here's what I'm going to do.  I
5 will get off the phone, and everyone else can as well, or I
6 think the government and Federal Defenders can get off the 7 phone, and then Mr. Street can tell you how to be in touch with 8 the pro se office and what to ask them and how to be in touch.
9 OK?

10                  THE DEFENDANT:  OK.

11                  THE COURT:  All right.  This conference is adjourned.
12 Thank you.

13                  THE DEFENDANT:  Thank you, your Honor.

14                  (Adjourned)
